

MARKER

The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog. This paragraph exists so that line detection has several horizontal text lines to cluster. Each line should be recovered as a distinct band regardless of the page rotation attribute, once coordinates are normalised.

Final line of the test page.

LINKTEXT

MARKER

The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog. This paragraph exists so that line detection has several horizontal text lines to cluster. Each line should be recovered as a distinct band regardless of the page rotation attribute, once coordinates are normalised.
Final line of the test page.

MARKER

The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog. This paragraph exists so that line detection has several horizontal text lines to cluster. Each line should be recovered as a distinct band regardless of the page rotation attribute, once coordinates are normalised.

Final line of the test page.

MARKER

The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog. This paragraph exists so that line detection has several horizontal text lines to cluster. Each line should be recovered as a distinct band regardless of the page rotation attribute, once coordinates are normalised.
Final line of the test page.